Announcement

The Garfield Weston Foundation is delighted and proud to announce that Guy Weston, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, has been awarded a Knighthood for services to charity in the New Year Honours list 2021. The honour recognises the tireless effort, expertise and advice Guy has devoted both to the Foundation and the charities it has supported during his 20-year Chairmanship and 35-year role as Trustee.

Under Guy's leadership, the Garfield Weston Foundation has become the largest family grant-making charity in the UK. He has seen the Foundation significantly increase the level of donations, from under £39 million in 2000-01 to over £88 million in 2019-20. Total grants to charities across the UK will exceed £1 billion, of which over half has been granted under Guy's tenure and in the last ten years alone.

Guy's leadership has enabled British charities large and small to develop strategy, launch major appeals and encourage other donors – all the while overseeing the strategic direction of the underlying family business that generates the income for the Foundation to be able to donate across the UK.
